BIBLE SCHOOL ENDS AT MT. SHILOH

The Mt. Shiloh Baptist Church Bible School closed Friday after two weeks of Bible study, music, arts and crafts.

Rev. R. Q. Lawing, pastor of the church, taught the Bible classes. Mrs. Celestral Turner was in charge of music, assisted by Mrs. Caretta Elliott. Mrs. Virginia Hicks and Mrs. Elliott were in charge of Arts and Crafts, Mrs. Hanah Rice, Rev. Ernest Humble, and Rev. Harrison Kelso were leaders in Spiritual Life; Miss Mary Hicks ran the lunch room, assisted by Mrs. Lillian Fleshman, Marzetia Hodnett, Gwen Turner and Hilda Elliott. Group leaders were Nadine Fleshman, Bonnie Williams, Fannie Calloway, Verna Fleshman, Glenn Mosley, Ronnie Hodnett, Andrew Kelso and Ross Abbitt. Mrs. Margaret Ferguson, who has been in charge of the lunches for many years, was sick and was missed this year.

Twenty-one children accepted Christ as Saviour and Lord and became candidates for baptism.

Miss Hazel Moon was guest speaker on Thursday and was accompanied by her mother.

The enrollment was ninety. Children from Appomattox, Campbell County and the City of Lynchburg and Washington, D.C. were present. Many of the parents visited the school Thursday morning to hear Miss Moon. A delicious lunch was served to all.

The committee wishes to thank all friends, parents, and the Men's Club for their generous donations to the school.

Rev. R. Q. Lawing, Pastor; William B. Turner, Superintendent; Georgia Fleshman, Director; and Mr. S. Hicks, Treasurer.

TEEN NOW!

By Frances H. Paulette

"Mischief!!"

The other day I happened to overhear a young mother say, in a tone of complete exasperation, "I know my children get into more mischief than any children ever have . . . they're about to drive me crazy!" More mischief than ANY children? Let's see about that.

The following incidents are true and either happened to people living in this county or have lived in this area at one time or another. Some of them happened THEN . . . some NOW.

* * *

The little girl was a cute little thing, full of energy and continually busy. She and her mother were living at the time with her grandparents while her father was in the service of his country. The grandparents were deeply religious, and being a Sunday School teacher the grandmother was continually trying to instill in the little girl the importance of relying on God for help every single day of her young life. The little girl, bright as a shiny new penny, took in everything that her grandmother taught her.

One day the little girl was on her tricycle, pedaling down the dirt road leading to the house. She was hurrying along at a pretty good clip when disaster struck! Directly in front of the little girl was a huge mud puddle; needless to say, she had an accident, tumbling head first in the puddle.

With much ado, she got up, brushed at the mud, and continued on her way to the house. Upon seeing her little granddaughter, the grandmother asked, with alarm, "what in the world happened to you, honey?" "Well, it's like this Grandma," replied the little girl, with a thoughtful look on her face, "I just fell in a mud puddle and God helped me out but you know - - - I could have gotten out by myself!"

* * *

Having no brothers or sisters of my own, I have always looked with longing at families with several children and take a delight in hearing of the antics that naturally occur as part of family life when several children are involved.

Before the day of working mothers and an accelerated life style, a mother would often, in the middle of the week, get the children together and go spend the day with neighbors and kinfolk.

On this particular day, the mother of a large family had decided to visit her sister-in-law and brother-in-law, also parents of several children. The children, anxious to have a chance to play with their cousins, accompanied her.

It was afternoon, dinner had long been over; the women were inside the house enjoying an afternoon of rest and relaxation, the children outside playing. After a bit, the visiting mother decided it was time to start for home. As they walked out on the porch, they couldn't believe their eyes. You see, while the mothers visited, the boys had convinced one of the group that they would give him all the treasures that their pockets would unload if he would jump off the front porch using an umbrella for a parachute!

"Aw, Mother, you ruined it all" exclaimed the young man in dismay as he stood poised on the edge of the porch. The story goes that he insisted on the "goodies" he had been promised; he was willing . . . it was the mothers who ruined it all!!

I've often heard my late grandfather tell of humorous "goings-on" that happend in his day. It seemed that one of their neighbors had a son and daughter that presented a bit of a problem. The son, who was older, was supposed to watch after his younger sister . . this he didn't appreciate! He had been warned that should she wander away one more time, he would have to pay the consequences.

Something had to be done; seeing a rope the little boy had an idea. "Sis," he exclaimed happily, "let's play garden - - - you can be the horse!" Delighted that her brother would play with her without a fuss, she consented. When the mother looked out she saw the little girl crawling along on all fours while the boy held in his hand the rope that was attached to his sister's waist. "My, my," she thought, 'aren't they playing well together." Little did she know that underneath his breath the little boy was muttering to his sister, "Pull, horse!! If you don't I'll take a stick and beat the - - - out of you!!"

Then there were the boys who attended school in Evergreen back when there was a school there. Across the road from the school house was the home of an elderly lady. To the side of her house was an apple orchard; during recess the boys would play a game in which part of the boys would be the dogs and one of the boys would be the fox. They would chase the fox across the road and he would go up the tree. (This game only occured when the apples were ripe in the fall!!)

One day, "the fox" was busily gathering apples and throwing them down to the "dogs" on the ground. Suddenly, "the fox", noticed an unusual silence on the ground. Climbing down the tree a bit he realized why. There on the ground looking up at him with a stern countenance was the lady of the house . . . his friends were long gone!! I have a feeling that those boys didn't play that game any more!

Times have chaned? Sure. Children? No way! Circumstances may be different, opportunities different, but as long as there are children there will be mischief. Would you really want it any different?

LET'S PLAY TENNIS

WEEK JULY 3-10

A memorable experience for the entire family from WORLD WIDE PICTURES

SHIOKARI PASS

The power of Christian love in one life.

In Color

New Film To Be Shown July 3 at Providence

SHIOKARI PASS, a new film from the producers of THE HIDING PLACE, will be shown at Providence Baptist Church, Red House, on Sunday, July 3, 1977. The one hour color release from World Wide Pictures will be shown once beginning at 8 p.m.

SHIOKARI PASS is unique among World Wide Pictures productions. Although it has an English soundtrack, it was originally produced for showing to Japanese audiences. It was filmed entirely in Japan with a Japanese cast and crew, and depicts the delicate beauty of that country. The drama of the story unfolds against a backdrop of Japan's spring blossoms, snow-capped mountains, and whispering native music.

A true story, SHIOKARI PASS is based on the international best seller by Ayako Miura. Nearly two million readers have been touched by this story of the abiding love of a young couple at the turn of the century.

Credited with creating a deeper understanding of the Christian faith among the Japanese people, the film tells of the love of Nubuo for Fujiko, and of his willingness to be guided by his personal faith, no matter how great the cost of commitment.

From its gentle opening to its gripping, unexpected conclusion, SHIOKARI PASS is a profound demonstration of the power of love in one life.

The Reverend Hilton F. Moore, Jr., pastor of Providence Baptist Church, extends an invitation to each member of the community to attend this special showing and added, "SHIOKARI PASS is the kind of film that will be enjoyed and remembered by the entire family."

There will be no admission charge for the film program.

Area Speech & Hearing Center Wins Accreditation

The Central Virginia Speech and Hearing Center, located in Virginia Baptist Hospital, has been granted accreditation of its speech pathology and audiology services by the American Speech and Hearing Association.

There are more than 1,500 clinics and centers located throughout the country, but less than 300 have been accredited to provide speech and hearing services, according to Ernest C. Edwards, Director of the clinic, and only five are in the State of Virginia.

"The comprehensive evaluation, which we requested last year, encompassed our staff, clinical practices and procedures, supervision, professional interrelationships, administration, records and reports, physical facilities and equipment," he said. "Following this evaluation, the Professional Services Board granted accreditation."

Mr. Edwards added that the center will now be reviewed each year to insure that it continues to meet the stringent National Standards of the American Speech and Hearing Association.

The Central Virginia Speech and Hearing Center's services include hearing evaluations, consultation for selection of hearing aids, and speech services for children and adults.

The accreditation of speech pathology and audiology service programs is one part of the 26,000 member American Speech and Hearing Association's goal of encouraging and maintaining high nationwide standards.

On-The-Spot Help For Veterans Available

On-the-spot help for veterans of U.S. military service will be available in Campbell Co., with the arrival of a red, white and blue National Assistance for Veterans Mobile Van.

The van will be staffed by two Veterans Administration Benefits Counselors ready to file claims, answer questions, and provide information on the full range of government benefits available to veterans, dependents and survivors.

W. H. Highfill, Jr., Director of the Roanoke VA Regional Office, said the van will be located at Yellow Branch School and will be open for business from 12 to 5 on July 5, 9 to 12 on July 6, 1977.

The purpose of the Virginia Mobile Van Tour is to reach veterans who have not made full use of their benefits and other services of the government. This year's program is aimed at reaching those senior citizens who may be eligible for benefits. In cooperation with Central Virginia Commission on Aging, Inc., the van will visit senior citizen centers and nutrition sites. Mr. Highfill said it was part of the agency's continuing outreach effort to "take the VA to the veterans".

Mr. Highfill further stated, "Although our goal for this year is to reach the older veteran, we are equipped to handle the problems of any veteran. Many benefits are available in medical care, home loans, job assistance, on-the-job training and educational assistance. Veterans and their dependents within easy driving distances are invited to bring any problem they may have to the counselors in the van."

The concept of using vans to "Bring the Word" to veterans outside the major cities where the government has most of its agencies located, has been in effect for several years. It was enthusiastically received in Virginia in 1975, and the van was visited by over 1200 veterans seeking assistance or information.

For further information, contact Central Virginia Commission on Aging, 384-0372.

Named To Dean's List

A total of 291 students in Virginia Tech's College of Business made the dean's list during the spring quarter.

Thomas B. Wheeler of Appomattox, a junior in general business; and Michael L. Quinn, a junior in general business, also of Appomattox were named to the Dean's List.

To make the dean's list at Tech, a student has to make a 3.4 average or better in the University's 4.0, grading system. A 3.4 average is the equivalent to a middle B average.
